CASE OF SUICIDE OR BRUTAL MURDER

H. G. CUSHING FOUND DEAD IN UNFINISHED JAIL AT DOUGLAS

Was There From Cleveland, Ohio, and Seemed to be of Despondent Nature—May Have Been Robbed

(Special to Review.)

Douglas, April 27.—The death of H. G. Cushing which occurred here between the hours of 6 p. m. on Saturday and 7 a. m. Sunday, is attended by circumstances which enshroud the affair in mystery. His dead body was found in the new jail being constructed on Seventh street, by a man named Cornmeyer, who is positive the map was dead and that the hour was not later than 7 p. m. A revolver of the later-Johnson make lay at the left side of the dead man and a bullet hole in his right temple showed the cause of death.

Cornmeyer told a friend of the finding of a dead man and together they returned to the jail and saw him lying there. Strange to say, the authorities were not notified at the time nor were they until Sunday morning when a boy, chanceing to notice the body and the revolver beside it, reported the case.

Coroner Johnson at once impaneled a jury and after viewing the remains, ordered the dead man removed to Washington's undertaking parlors on Tenth street. Dr. Randall was called in and extracted a 38-calibre bullet from just beneath the skin at the left temple. The path of the missile had been straight through the brain, causing instantaneous death.

H. G. Cushing, the dead man, was the son of Dr. Cushing of Cleveland, Ohio, and came west for his health some twelve years ago, locating at Deming, New Mexico, where he is well known. Ever since his arrival at Deming, Cushing has received a monthly remittance from home, some $100 per month and others, intimate with him, claim he has received as much as $250.

He drifted into gambling, probably as much to occupy his time as a faro dealer in Deming and Lordsburg. Naturally reserved, Cushing made few intimates and his closest friends learned nothing of his life aside from his family connections. He was considered a very peculiar man by those who were associated with him in every day life.

About two or three years ago, he made the acquaintance, at Deming, of a woman named Vera Boyd, and since that time has consorted with her. She came to Douglas about two or three months ago. Cushing following her. He arrived in this on the third of the present month. Shortly after his arrival he became financially embarrassed but this fact is not looked upon by his friends as the cause of his suicide. If suicide it is, for he found no trouble in procuring funds from those who knew of his financial resources.

For three days prior to his death, he seemed to be in a despondent frame of mind and Saturday took to drinking heavily. When last seen alive by the Boyd woman, he was asleep on a bed in the parlor house of Sadie Fisher on H avenue. Between 5 and 6 o'clock he was missed by the inmates of the house and his dead body found in the jail building soon after. The report of his death did not reach the Fisher house until Sunday morning, when it was discovered that a revolver, the one found beside Cushing was missing. When found, the body of Cushing lay with the feet toward the door of the jail, the head in a pool of clotted blood, resting on a mortar board near an inner partition wall of the jail. His hat, lying nearby, bore the marks of powder. A strange feature of the case lies in the fact that the bullet from the revolver entered the head at the right temple while Cushing is known to have been left-handed. The revolver was also found at the left side of the dead body.

Another phase of the case, which is puzzling many, is the testimony of Emmett Hogan, a friend of the deceased, who states positively that he saw Cushing at 10 or 11 o'clock on Saturday night. Not much is laid on this statement, however, as all those who saw the body at an earlier hour Saturday evening are quiet positive that it was the body of the dead man. Strong suspicions were noised about on Sunday that it was a case of murder and that the murderer had planned carefully to conceal his connection with the crime. But this suspicion has but little to sustain it in the face of the fact that all the blood found in or near the jail was found directly beneath the dead man's head or under the mortar board where it had trickled.

Word was received from the father of the dead man requesting that the remains of Alleyn Cushing be prepared for shipment to Cleveland, Ohio, to be interred there. Dr. W. E. Cushing, Cleveland, Ohio, is said to be a man high in the medical profession there and conducts a sanitarium. The coroner's jury, sitting at the inquest over the remains of Alleyn Cushing, after a most searching examination of witnesses, found that Cushing came to his death from a revolver in the hands of some unknown person. The verdict of the jury leaves the death of Cushing as much a mystery as before. Some are of the opinion that he was murdered for money after being lured to the unfinished jail building while others treat the theory of murder as absurd.

Charles Pevery has taken the agency for the Pioneer Soda Water works of T. F. Metz, of Bisbee, as well as for Lem Shattuck's bottling works, and will attend to the sale of goods for those firms in Douglas.

Five Camps Have Been Established on the Forest-Naco Cut-off of the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad.

(Special to Review.)

Contractor William Crook, of the firm of Orman and Crook came into town Saturday night from his camps on the Forest-Naco branch. Mr. Crook reports the work of extending the new cut-off of the E. P. & S. W. as progressing smoothly. Five camps are strung along the line. Mr. Crook stated that the Naco terminus will be located in the heart of the town and not outside as was at one time thought. Ed Torrea, the big meat dealer, came down Sunday to watch the work on the new warerooms and cold storage of Torrea company being erected on G Avenue under the supervision of Architect W. K. Moore.

E. R. Pirtle closed three more real estate deals yesterday, two lots on G Avenue going to P. V. Warnkross the Tombstone merchant for a consideration of $2,500, and one to J. L. Creswell for $1,500. Building will be commenced on these as soon as specifications can be prepared and the contracts let. The third sale was made to a prominent capitalist from the north, whose name Mr. Pirtle was not at liberty to divulge.

Word reached here this morning of the death of Ramon Gutierrez near Cananea. Gutierrez was in the toils of the law for murdering a man in Cananea some time ago. He also killed Francisco Salazar at Chiricahua on Saturday, April 18th and was captured at Agua Prieta last Monday. The details of his death are not given in the message, but it is presumed that Gutierrez foolishly stopped a package of lead handed him by Kosterlitzky's rurales.

Postmaster White is in receipt of a letter from Assistant Superintendent M. H. Flint of the salaries and allowance department of the postoffice in which he states under date of April 25th: "I have just returned from a twenty day's trip in the northwest and will make one more attempt to visit your city. I anticipate leaving here as late as Monday, April 27th, May 1st. Please advise all interested in the location of the postoffice of these facts."

The above date set by Mr. Flint for his visit to Douglas makes it one of moment to the citizens of the city, who are interested in the postoffice location. Mr. Flint will probably take his time in selecting or recommending a change of location and it behooves all interested in the matter to meet him and give their ideas freely and without stint. Mr. Flint will no doubt receive the voluntary opinions of the merchants in presenting to him the situation as it is and in aiding him with facts and data bearing on the question of a change. Some preparations should be made by the local merchants to meet Mr. Flint and extend to him the courtesies of the community at large that he may come in close touch with all the phases of the situation.

James A. McGill, field manager for the Federal Investment and Trust company of Prescott, Arizona, was a Douglas visitor Sunday. Said Mr. McGill, when asked for his opinion of Douglas:

"Well you may say for me that Southern Arizona is the best business section in the United States and Douglas the best town in Southern Arizona."

Mr. McGill left for Bisbee on the Sunday evening train, but anticipates another visit to Douglas in the near future, when he will spend an indefinite length of time in the interest of the Federal company.

Ex-District Attorney Reas M. Ling, of Yavapai county, is sojourning in Douglas and among his interests with our thriving community that he contemplates the purchase of a home here. Mr. Ling will be a welcome resident.

Word reached Douglas a few days ago of the death of W. J. Crow in Sonora, Mexico, on April 22nd, at the ranch of John Hobstad, near Cos. Mr. Crow was a friend of Justice R. O. Johnson of this city and came west from Chicago, where he was cashier for the O. K. Livery company, in February last for the benefit of his health. The cause of death is supposed to have been heart failure.

JUST ARRIVED—A carload of Maler & Zobel's beer. T. L. Seebold, Douglas agent.
 Place your orders with T. L. Seebold, wholesale liquor dealer, and agent for Don Luis Bottling works.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church of Douglas will give a May-party social on April 30th. A fine program will be rendered and an admission of 25c will be charged. Ice cream and cake will be served free. If
